

Nick is one of the Managers of the Rapid Handwash with his brother Zach here in Rocky Point.

In the early morning hours of December 22, 2007, Sound Beach, New York native Nick Manzo was critically injured in a motorcycle accident involving another motorist. Nick is currently in Stony Brook University Medical Center in critical condition. Nick is rallying and continues to make small but significant strides everyday.

Donation information can be found at www.thenickmanzofoundation.org Please print out the form and mail along with your donation. Thank you to all who can help - whether it is with donations or prayers.

Our sincere thanks goes out to the Rocky Point Fire Department and the Suffolk County Police for facilitating Nick's emergency medical care and transport to the Stony Brook University Medical Center. The skilled doctors and nurses at Stony Brook University Medical Center are providing Nick with exceptional medical care as well as the doctors at Mount Sinai Medical Center in Manhattan. We can never 'pay them back' but we can 'pay it forward'. By helping others we humble ourselves. There is no greater gift than the giving of ourselves - our time - our prayers - our love.

Nick received more than 30 pints of blood - thank you to all who donate - there is no substitute for blood. If you would like to donate you can visit the New York Blood Center www.nybloodcenter.org or call them to make an appointment at 1-800-933-blood. You can also donate at the Stony Brook Hospital Blood Center by calling and making an appointment at 631-444-2634.

Our Sincere Thanks,
Kenny & Chris Manzo [Nick's parents]
